GRANT WRITING ADVICE

26

It's a Competition

27

A Myth:
“If my request fits the guidelines, I'll get funded.”

28

HOW DO CAP PANELS MAKE DECISIONS?

- Each CAP grant has a separate decision-making panel.
- Panelists receive the requests to read and study a few weeks before they meet. They receive an orientation about the grant.
- Panels meet on Zoom and discuss each request.
- Meetings are facilitated by Robin at CAP but she can't vote or advocate on behalf of applicants.
- Panelists fill out a rating sheet based on the criteria outlined in each grant's guidelines.
- Staff compiles the ratings and makes funding recommendations based on a) the ratings, b) each request's budget, and c) the amount of funds available.
- Recommendations are sent back to panelists for approval.

29

GAP Grant Criteria

Panelists rate the requests using the criteria below.

Ratings range from 1 to 5.

“1” is the lowest (does not meet any of the criteria) and “5” is the highest (meets and exceeds all criteria).

Community Benefit is Considered:

- Panelists considers all applications as a whole to ensure that funded requests collectively reach broad and diverse audiences, which can include rural audiences, culturally diverse segments of the county's population. and broad demographics such as age, ethnicity, race, and economic status.
- Projects are prioritized and receive a higher rating if they demonstrate that they are providing successful access to under-resourced or diverse communities.
- Projects are prioritized if they support the development of local cultural resources that responsive to specific community cultural needs.
- Requests that contribute to the artistic landscape of Tompkins County and its communities.

GRANT WRITING - Preparation

- Read the guidelines carefully. Then read them again. Do not skip this step.
- Consider your time and resources - can you do the funded project?
- Take careful note of the funding criteria.
- Read through all the application questions before starting to fill them out.
- Complete the budget form before you write the narrative.
- Follow directions EXACTLY - Do not improvise.
- Leave yourself plenty of time.

GRANT WRITING - Advice

- Keep your narrative clear and factual.
- Do not use abstract, vague, or academic language.
- Answer each question carefully. (Answer the question that was asked.)
- Details are good - the who, what, where, when, and why.
- Give specific examples to go along with generic statements.
- Use full sentences.
- Do not exaggerate or make up facts of numbers
- Read what you wrote out loud to make sure it makes sense.
- Have someone else proof for clarity and completeness.
- Take advantage of CAP Grant Director (Robin's) draft review.

35

- Do not project an attitude

THE GRANT PANEL

Write for this person...

Not for this person...

- Understand that CAP panelists may be reading over 60 requests. Help them by prioritizing clarity.
- When applying for any grant, know the panelist's backgrounds (i.e. are they fellow artists, community members...?). Don't assume they will have knowledge of you, your references (acronyms, organizations, people, events). Provide this information.

37

GRANT WRITING - Enthusiasm is Good.

- Connect to panelist's hearts.
- You want them to think: "I really want to go to that event!" or "Wow, how exciting!"
- It's okay to convey your own excitement or enthusiasm.
- Include testimonials from audience members, audience stories, improved lives.
- Tell us why your program matters.

38

GRANT NARRATIVE and BUDGET

Make sure you mention what you need grant funds for.

NARRATIVE and BUDGET MATCH

Your written narrative and your budget provide the same information in two different ways. Each needs to tell the same story.

A cost included in the budget should be mentioned and explained in the narrative. A cost mentioned in the narrative should be listed in the budget.

NARRATIVE

The concert will include 15 musicians

We will be recording the concerts, using filmmaker Taylor Quinn and then posting them on social media and our website.

BUDGET ITEM

15 @ $100/ea = $1,500

$600 - filmmaker, and light editing

COMMON MISTAKES

- It is obvious that the applicant did not read the guidelines.
- Lack of clarity: After reading the narrative, the panelists are confused and don't understand the request.
- Sloppy writing, unanswered questions: If you don't take your time with the application, the proposal will not be competitive.
- Irrelevant writing: Responses that don't answer the questions. (Questions are asked for a reason, e.g. they are often part of the evaluation or rating process.)
- Budget expenses are a mystery and don't make sense.
- Budget expenses are made up or exaggerated.

41

GAP GRANT Sample Questions

DETAILED PROJECT INFORMATION

Here's where you can write a detailed clear, concise, and factual description of your project. (6000 character limit with spaces)

Describe the event (details are good!), the participating artists, and who is organizing the project. Address community interest based on past experience. Talk about program quality. Don't assume the panel knows anything about your organization or event.

Address your funding needs. Note that the decision making panel will be closely examining your budget and will look to this narrative to understand your expenses. For example, if you have "marketing costs" in your budget, explain those in this section. If you have a "recording" cost in your budget, tell us what the recording is for. The budget should be explained in the narrative.

COMMUNITY INTEREST

Who are you expecting to come to your event based on your promotional efforts and community connections (ages, communities, interests, etc) ? Let us know if your project reaches under-served areas or populations. (1,700 character limit with spaces)

42

GRANT WRITING Not-So-Great ANSWER

Johnstown is a town that lost its industrial base twenty years ago, and suffered serious economic decline from which is never fully recovered. Not only has the town seen a loss of shops and municipal services, it has also lost population. In the 1970 census, Johnstown was listed as having over 30,000 people living within its town limits. Today, we have fewer than 22,000 people.

We have been presenting an important chamber music series in Johnstown since 1991, and regularly receive very positive press reviews for our efforts. Our exciting concerts are presented in the town's high school auditorium and are sometimes attended by over 50 people. Our ten musicians are drawn from the faculty of the local junior college, which was founded in 1982 and has several professional and technical degree programs. We perform a variety of music, from chamber to the moderns, and vary the ensemble to include trios, quartets and the full chamber orchestra.

We are proud of our ability to publicize our concerts widely, including a newspaper ad, local radio spots and a mailer to our membership. We hope the panel recognizes our significant accomplishments in this relatively poor community, and fully supports our request this year.

WHY IS THE ANSWER Not-So-Great?

The panel is left with too many questions. They would be unable to rate this request against the grant's criteria.

- What is the connection of the town's decline to the events?
- The narrative just says "We have been presenting." Who is "We"?
- How many concerts are there a year? Two? Ten?
- When are the concerts? Weekends? Afternoons? Nights?
- Where are the concerts?
- Are the concerts scheduled yet?
- What is the content of each concert?
- Is there an admission fee?
- They says concerts are sometimes attended by 50 people. We wonder about the rest of the time.
- Are these professional musicians? (It says they are faculty but are they music faculty?)
- They mention "the ensemble." Who is the ensemble?
- Who is the audience? Is it community members or students/fellow faculty from the college? (Without this information, the panel can't determine whether the audience is from the County the grant is serving.)
- No social media? It mentions a mailer to membership? How many/who is that? They may not be doing a great job getting the word out.

44

GRANT BUDGET - Not-So-Great

PROJECT EXPENSES	Provide Breakdown Below	A. TOTAL EXPENSES

Admissions		$850
Membership, Dues
Contributions Individual		$250
Contributions Corporate		$250
Other (explain)
	TOTAL	$1,250

Grant Request: $2,975

WHY IS THE BUDGET Not-So-Great?

The costs mentioned in the budget are not explained in the narrative or in the “budget breakdown” column.

- Personnel: What is 5 x 3 x 100? Five concerts, three people each? Or three concerts, five people each. The narrative mentioned 10 musicians, so...
- Why do they need to buy music stands? What have they done in the past?
- What is the space rental for? The narrative didn't explain.
- Who is the $75 travel fee for?
- No advertising expenses. They mention newspaper ad and radio spots and postcards.
- What is “recording space”? Are they recording the concert? Is it for public access or just their own archive? (Because the latter wouldn't be fundable.)
- Apparently, they are charging admission. How did they end up with $850. 50 people at $17 each? Any sliding scale?
- Also, the income adds up incorrectly.
- Grant request number is incorrect. Should be expenses minus income.

GREATLY IMPROVED ANSWER & BUDGET

The Johnstown Arts Group has been presenting chamber music concerts in Johnstown since 2015. Our ten current musicians are drawn from the music faculty of the local Johnstown Junior College. (See attachment for a brief paragraph about each musician.)

“JAG” performs a variety of music for community performances, from the classics to the moderns, and varies the ensemble to include trios, quartets, and the full group. Many of us play multiple instruments and the ensembles include string, woodwind, brass, and percussion. We enjoy making music together, and discovering new composers. Our mission is to share the music and our love for the music with our local community. This year we are concentrating on our rural communities and the local Latinx community.

The board of directors is made up of five of the musicians in the group that meet eight times a year and perform all tasks associated with the logistics of the concerts.

We have three concerts scheduled for 2025. The first will be on Sunday, February 9th at 2pm and will feature a quartet piece by a New Mexico composer duo, Momoko Dern and Darnell Bean. Their music is a fusion of classical and jazz, and is very exciting and challenging to play. This concert will be in the rural town of Medusa at the Medusa Fire Hall, in collaboration with the Medusa Library.

47

The second concert will be in May and will feature the full chamber group (8 musicians) playing music by Argentinian composer Astor Piazzolla. This concert will be in the city of Johnstown and will be co-sponsored by the Johnstown Latino Civic Association.

The last concert will be in October and will feature a trio. We do not yet know the program for third concert, although we are thinking of one concert featuring segments of each JAG member’s favorite ensemble piece, and one concert of Aaron Copeland work that will celebrate (and invite) our local service workers.

Each concert will be on a Sunday and will start at 2pm. All will be held at ADA compliant and accessible locations with ample parking and where locals tend to congregate.

We advertise the concert as free although we will also suggest donations (no pressure) of $15 (or more) after each concert. We find that the best time to ask for donations during applause and we have our musicians at the exits with empty drums for donations. We hope for $500 per concert.

Attendance at these concerts in the past has not been wonderful, although we have an enthusiastic core of followers. With the requested grant funds, along with new ideas and innovations, we would like to increase our audience size and visibility in the community. Our goal is to increase attendance from about 25 per concert to at least 75 and to bring in new audiences.

We will make a strong effort to interest families. One way to do this will be to work with our local libraries, such as Jean Morrow of the Johnstown Library (Youth Services and Community Engagement Director) to help spread the word. Jean has also invited our group to be featured in a separate family event, where we show families and children our instruments and how they work! We will also invite these audiences to our concerts. We believe that these individual invites are a great way to gain fans and spread the word.

For 2025, we plan on beginning each concert with entertaining and interesting information about the composers and the work we will perform. We'll tell them what styles to look for as we play and signal them when that occurs. JAG members will encourage audience members to stay after the concert to chat and we plan on live Zooming with the living composers!

We would like part of the grant funds to help with the cost of publicity so that we can get the word out more effectively. We currently send out a mailer to our membership (150 people) and utilize whatever free publicity the local newspapers offer. This year we would also like to create a website for the group, gather more names for our mailings, print and distribute posters, put out road signage to inform everyone who drives through Johnston on Route 78 to visit our website (everyone in town will see those signs!), send an e-blast using the college's listserve and pay for three print ads in the Johnstown paper (one before each concert). We will also work closely with the rural community not-for-profits and Medusa village offices and the Civic Association. We will use boosted Facebook events, and start using instagram.

We would also like to pay the musicians $250 each for each performance. In the past we have only been able to pay $25 each. We pay a minimal fee of $50 per concert to the High School for a custodian ($150). We have recorded our concerts in the past, but have not shared the resulting videos. This year we would like to pay local filmmaker David Schmidt $200 per concert to both record and do some light editing.($600). We post the edited videos on our new website.
